

To Sabina and Lawrence on their Wedding

Written by Katharine McLennan

The Two Become One

Sabina and Lawrence on their Wedding

Written by Katharine McLennan

*Sabina and Lawrence, I write to wish you the best
For the start of a journey, the start of a quest
To discover the meaning of love and affection
Of acceptance, forgiveness, of stillness and reflection.*

*The world says there is a soul mate for each of us to find
Our other half to complete us, the missing part of our mind
But others have experienced marriage as something else
Of two individuals learning together but still distinct selves*

*What an honour to be given this chance to learn,
From our greatest teacher, for their honour we yearn,
The romance tide may flow in and flow out,
But there lies something deeper we're just learning about.*

*I can't tell you what it is called, or how I do know
I think it is faith and what you reap, you will sow
There is so much more to marriage than has yet met our eyes
Despite times of boredom and anger deep below we reach wise*

*But the beauty of a wedding day I hope you enjoy
A moment of pure love, to lift yourself above everyday noise
Lawrence, look into your bride's eyes and know her as Guide
Know that there is no other friendship to which to aspire*

*And Sabina, you are so fortunate to have found this man
A beautiful soul, so loving who really does understand,
How to listen, how to love, how to learn, how to share,
A life of ups and downs, of patience and of care.*

*Sabina and Lawrence, I write to wish you the best
For the start of a journey, the start of a quest
To discover the meaning of love and affection
Of acceptance, forgiveness, of stillness and reflection.*

*The world says there is a soul mate for each of us to find
Our other half to complete us, the missing part of our mind
But others have experienced marriage as something else
Of two individuals learning together but still distinct selves*

*What an honour to be given this chance to learn,
From our greatest teacher, for their honour we yearn,
The romance tide may flow in and flow out,
But there lies something deeper we're just learning about.*

*I can't tell you what it is called, or how I do know
I think it is faith and what you reap, you will sow
There is so much more to marriage than has yet met our eyes
Despite times of boredom and anger deep below we reach wise*

*But the beauty of a wedding day I hope you enjoy
A moment of pure love, to lift yourself above everyday noise
Lawrence, look into your bride's eyes and know her as Guide
Know that there is no other friendship to which to aspire*

*And Sabina, you are so fortunate to have found this man
A beautiful soul, so loving who really does understand,
How to listen, how to love, how to learn, how to share,
A life of ups and downs, of patience and of care.*

Written by Katharine McLennan

If you would like to have a poem written on your behalf, please contact me on kath@timetorelect.today or +61419751812. My name and logo will not appear on your poem. You are encouraged to select photos and script style. You are also welcome to adapt my draft, which will be based on the information you have given me to express. Your information can be as detailed as you like. More information and samples of poetry I have written can be found on my website, <https://www.timetorelect.today/>